This has a lovely smoky edge and good, ripe brambly fruits. It could easily wait a few years before opening, but this is going to be one to enjoy. This vintage tastes very different from the others because it's 100% Merlot — the Cabernet Franc was just so good that they put it all into the first wine. This is hugely mouthfilling. It's also aged a little longer than usual so there's a touch more structure than the other vintages of Divin.

The second wine of Château Corbin, this is ripe and rounded. It's a juicy Merlot, with generous tannins and smooth blackberry fruit. It has a dense texture as well as a dry core that will allow the wine to age. Drink from 2019.
